

Foundation of DOLD Italia

By founding a sales subsidiary in Italy Dold is looking to strengthen contacts with its Italian customers and intensify its activities in the market.

Dold & Söhne KG in Furtwangen has founded its subsidiary Dold Italia, based in Milan.

Dold & Söhne KG is an internationally oriented medium-sized family owned company. It develops, manufactures and markets high-end components and complete solutions for safe automation in machine building industry.

The comprehensive product spectrum includes switchgear, safety relays with forcibly guided contacts, electronics enclosures and a safety switch and trapped key interlock system.

The founding of the Italian sales subsidiary Dold Italia represents a strengthening of the presence in Italy. With the Italian staff on the ground, contacts to existing customers can be intensified and the market developed to a greater extent. Italian customers are able to benefit in particular from Dold's broad product spectrum and professional service. The combination of a high level of production depth at the parent company and close local customer relationships with current and prospective customers makes customer specific solutions feasible too thus facilitating the provision of solutions for almost any application.
